Cookie Policy

I. Introduction

This Cookie Policy is intended to explain to you how our website NOVATEC GENERATIONuses Cookiesandsimilar techno logies (such as web beacons, local storage, etc.) and the i mpact of thesetechnologies on you.

II. What are Cookies

Cookies are small text files sent by the website server to your browser and stored on your computer's hard drive. They can help us identify your browser, record your browsing preferences and habits, and provide you with a better user experience.

III. Types of Cookies We Use

Required Cookies: These Cookies are necessary to enable our website to function properly. They are used to manage your session (such as login status), ensure the security of the website, and process your transaction requests. If you disable these Cookies, our website may not work properly.

Functional Cookies: These Cookies are used to remember your settings and preferences, such as language settings, font size, etc. They can give you a more personalized experience on our website.

Analytical Cookies: We use analytical Cookies to collect information about how you use our website, such as page views, visit time, click streams, etc. This information helps us understand the usage of the website and optimize the performance and content of the website. We typically use third-party analytics tools (such as Google Analytics) to collect and analyze this data.

Advertising and marketing cookies: These cookies are used to show you personalized advertising and marketing information. They may display relevant ads based on your browsing history and interests. We may share some of your information with third-party advertising partners (subject to the privacy policy) so that they can provide you with more relevant ads.

IV. How to manage cookies

Browser settings: You can manage cookies by adjusting your browser settings. Most browsers allow you to choose whether to accept cookies, delete stored cookies, or set the expiration time of cookies. You can find specific instructions on how to manage cookies in your browser's help documentation.

Advertising cookie management: You can also manage advertising cookies through some advertising industry tools. For example, you can visit the websites of the Network Advertising Initiative or the Digital Advertising Alliance to learn how to opt out of interest-based advertising.

V. Updates and modifications to cookies

We may update or modify this Cookie Policy from time to time to reflect changes in our use of cookies or new regulatory requirements. We will publish the updated Cookie Policy on the website and notify you when appropriate.

VI. Contact Us

If you have any questions, comments or suggestions about this Cookie Policy, or if you want to know more about how we use Cookies, please contact us through the following methods:

[support@novatecg.com]

[+92 3268145555]

I hope the above content is helpful to you. If you can provide more specific information about the website, I can generate a policy content that is more in line with the actual situation for you.